WHAT I DO

SKILLS TRAINING

I specialize in providing soft skills training in the form of online courses and in-person workshops, in the following areas:

- Presentation skills
- Performing on-camera
- Creating video tutorials
- Voice Overs

VOICE OVER ARTIST

I am a professional voice over artist with 16 years experience recording voice overs for the corporate and commercial sector, in both the UK and South Africa. For all your recording needs, please give me a shout!

Check out my online courses at:

marinda-botha.teachable.com

I develop course material in soft skills training, covering subjects:

Presentation skills, including eye contact, speaking with confidence, time management, body language and non-verbal communication.

Voice Over skills, including clear articulation, speaking to your target audience, microphone technique, script analysis, communicating emotion via the voice alone.

Warming up the voice and body for performance, be it for in-person presentations, on-camera performance or recording behind the microphone.

I tailor in-person workshops to your company's needs.

HOW TO MAKE VIDEO TUTORIALS

These days, the digital world seems to revolve around video content. Students prefer to see a video lecture, rather than study from books. Online education has never been in greater demand and it is becoming mandatory for trainers to possess on-camera performance skills.

If you do feel the need for some guidance, do consider enrolling. This online course covers performance techniques and the technical how-to's on creating video tutorials in general and specifically on producing professional talking head videos.

We look at the following subjects: How to write your script for video, Non-verbal communication, Equipment - Camera and sound, Software, Lighting your shots, Connecting with your audience and many more!

WHO IS THIS COURSE FOR?

- Online educators
- E-learning product developers
- Vloggers
- Video content creators

WHAT DO I NEED?

All you need is your computer and a willingness to learn. You don't need to buy a fancy camera or microphone. To be able to do the exercises, you may use the microphone on your mobile phone, or the one in your computer.

HOW TO BECOME A VOICE OVER ARTIST

Have you been told you have a lovely voice? Always dreamt of working at a radio station or voicing character animations or videos games?

The voice over industry can sound very glamorous, but the truth is it takes a lot of hard work to achieve success in this business. This course start off quite technical, looking at microphone technique, but then we move on to the essence of voice over performance, which I believe is acting. We look at dissecting your script, using and ignoring punctuation, finding your target audience and unearthing subtext from your script.

Acting for voice overs can be super fun. It also takes a lot of practice. You can act the whole day long, even though you may have a bad hair day and want to stand barefoot behind the microphone. You can! All the listener is interested in, is the sound of your voice!

ABOUT ME

I obtained my degree in Performing Arts at the University of Pretoria, South Africa in 2000. I then promptly ran away to the UK, to further my training in Puppetry, Physical Theatre and performance in various genres.

I spent 8 years working as an actress, voice artist and puppeteer in the UK, gaining experience in acting for film and television.

I have been in the voice over business for 16 years. I now work from my home recording studio, in South Africa, with numerous clients from across the world.

I am also a Film lecturer in tertiary education, with 7 years teaching experience. I recently created a 3-year degree curriculum in Screen Acting, which was accredited by the South African Council of Higher Education.
